About Country Health SA

Country Health SA aims to ensure healthier, longer and better lives for all country South Australians through a comprehensive and sustainable health system.

The area covered by country health care services in South Australia is almost one million square kilometres, making up approximately 99.8% of the state. This area contains almost one third of South Australia's residents.

From Ceduna in the far west to Coober Pedy in the north to Mount Gambier in the south east and Mount Barker in the Adelaide Hills, we are committed to the provision of safe and high quality services that protect and enhance the health of rural South Australians.

We work to achieve these aims by strengthening primary health care, enhancing hospital care, reforming mental health care and improving the health of Aboriginal people.

We fund, plan, deliver and monitor hospital, residential aged care, community health, mental health and domiciliary care services.

To do this, we work closely with a number of external stakeholders including rural doctors and their representative bodies (Rural Doctors Workforce Agency, South Australian Divisions of General Practice, Rural Doctors Association), the Health Consumers Alliance, Local Government and the tertiary education sector.

SA Health offers exciting career paths that can take you far and wide across Country SA.
