

Risk of lead exposure from some traditional medicine

In Australia, lead has been found in some complementary, traditional and herbal medicine imported from overseas or bought on the internet from overseas manufacturers.

There is no safe level of exposure to lead.

Lead can be harmful to your health, particularly for pregnant women and children.

Please talk to your doctor about complementary medicine you are taking and before you start taking any that you haven't used before.